

January 22, 2015 Trail #42

What: PITT H3 #42 Upper Lawrenceville Hash “Don’t hate them just because they’re popular or you’ll miss out!”

Why: Lawrenceville hasn’t been hashed in weeks.

Upper Lawrenceville can test the endurance of the most hardened hasher. Its sidewalks are filled with the whir of digital cameras, the vape and tattoo shops hem you in, and hipster sensibilities can disappear faster than kisses. But Upper Lawrenceville is also Pittsburgh’s jewel and few neighborhoods can match its classic beauty. Swoon over the graffiti mural at New Amsterdam Pub, the gorgeous Nied’s Hotel Amphitheater and the stunning sculptural landscape of the Allegheny Cemetery, or just sit in a cafe and swoon over mustachioed handsome passers-by. The neighborhood is virtually tourist free in winter.

This evening, 4 devoted hashers were rewarded with heaps of flour haring 1 and attending 10 PITT trails. As depressing, confusing, mind boggling, and shocking as it may be, these hashers are all beginning to realize that the people drowning them in flour are quickly becoming their only friends.

TRAIL REVIEW: It sucked

reviewed by, Major Pecker

Starting out mere feet from where Wroughten Pussy and Ogre Under first consummated their relationship, the first leg of trail was well marked, easy to follow, and everyone made it to the first beer check without incident. If only that were true of the rest of trail. Someone (okay, it was Tight Embouchure) told the hares that the first leg was “too easy” and that they should make it trickier. Apparently the hares interpreted this as “get completely lost and don’t lay marks”. After half the pack ran past the second beer stop a few times, everyone eventually made it and enjoyed some imported brews from Moaning Lisa’s native land [Canada]. Upon leaving this stop, both Moaning Lisa and The Black Clap decided that they were done running on their feet, so they face planted into the ground just to take a break for a few minutes. At the shot quest, Glitter Spitter felt that he wasn’t sloppy drunk enough, so he powered through most of the shots. There were reports throughout of a kindly grandmother on trail, but it turned out to just be Moon taking his beautiful blonde wig out for a spin. At circle, we were joined by Tears for Sears and Just Maria, a visiting hasher from St. Kitts H3. Seriously, who brings a visitor to circle and not to trail? Fortunately, karma’s a bitch and, since Tears for Sears did not realize she would be receiving her tags at circle, her nerd clothes got completely caked in floury goodness. Circle was graced with another surprise – Sherpes, No Code, and Just Alex actually made it to a PITT circle and were awarded a down-down for their trouble. Finally, Double Stuffed was awarded the hash shit (which surprisingly actually made it to trail, thanks Defender). Thus, he was reunited with his beloved level, which he left on Mount Nittany along with Scrum Guzzler and Gaggle Cock. Overall a shit trail (when there was trail). Maybe find some hills next time.

A friend of mine who lives in Stanton Heights posted this status on her Facebook page last night:

"I think a bunch of hashers just went by my house. I heard a lot of noise & when I looked out the window, I saw a bunch of people running/walking up the hill wearing head lamps. It freaked me out for a minute, lol."

Song of the Week

THIRSTDAY HYMN

Melody - "Fat Bottom Girls" by Queen

Ohhh...

We're gonna set this trail off right.

Ohhh...

We're gonna get fucked up tonight.

Ohhh...

You're gonna have to call in sick

The Thirstday hash is gonna make you drink it down.....

(down, down, down...)

The HASHIT

While representing the PITT H3 at Free Beer, Double Stuffed saw a hasher with a level between his legs. It was love at first sight, he had to have it that level. Back at the hotel that night they shared a king size bed while some fine looking ladies were left to sleep on the cold floor. The next day he left that level, the supposed love of his life, abandoned on Mt. Nittany like a piece of trash. Luckily Defender of Peedom hates littering and picked it up to return it to him after adding it to the HASHIT.
